

Reduced social gaps!

Everyone should have equal opportunities, regardless of where they live or what background they have. For the community building to stay intact all residents must know that they can count on receiving the same quality of education, health care and elderly care, and that they have good chances of getting a job after graduating.

People in all parts of Sweden must be able to feel hope for the future and have faith in society. But the social gaps in Sweden have been growing for a long time. Now it is time for equality and justice to grow.

The tax system must be redone so that the people with the most resources contribute more. Social insurance needs to be improved. If one is sick or unemployed one should receive support to get back into work, and not get thrown into poverty. When one retires the money needs to be enough to live a good life.

That is why policies that work toward reducing social gaps are so important!

We want

- Pensions to be increased to at least 72 percent of the salary
- The unemployment insurance to be strengthened and the health insurance to be repaired
- The tax system to be redone. Increase the capital tax and impose a justice tax

On the website Hela svaret we explain further what we find important.
